MARCH 16, 2015
FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MARGARET VALENTINE
SELECTED TO SHOWCASE AT THE TIN PAN SOUTH
SONGWRITER'S FESTIVAL FEATURING VINCE GILL,
JOHN OATES, WILL HOGE, AND LADY ANTEBELLUM'S
HILLARY SCOTT.

Singer/Songwriter Margaret Valentine continues to add to her impressive resume with the addition of her upcoming performance at Nashville's prestigious Tin Pan South Songwriter's Festival. Produced by the Nashville Songwriters Association International, the 23rd annual festival brings together the most successful and emerging country Singer/Songwriter performers.

Valentine is set to perform alongside Matt Warren, #1 Hit Songwriter of Gary Allan's Hit single, "Every Storm Runs Out of Rain" and of multiple charting singles; Matchbox 20's Kyle Cook, and Michael Tolcher who wrote the Beijing Olympics Anthem Speed Feels Better. The showcase will take place Wednesday, March 25th at the Hard Rock Café Downtown at 6PM.

This year's performers include Vince Gill, John Oates, Will Hoge, Lady Antebellum's Hillary Scott, Kris Allen, Nashville's Sam Palladio, and Chris Janson.

Currently writing in Nashville, Valentine is working on her follow-up original EP that includes tracks she has co-written with Isa Machine of Florence + the Machine, and her recent single "Love and Affection" was well received for radio air play. She has performed as a featured artist for several major network radio concerts and as an in-studio on-air guest performer in addition to appearing in front of crowds ranging from 350 to 35,000 at a diverse list of iconic music venues.
